

Cooperation with Faculty of Life Sciences (KU Life)

As of NOV 2010 the Scandinavian School of Brewing (SSB) and Copenhagen University Faculty of Life Sciences (KU / Life) has joined forces and launch a common Diploma Master Brewer Course.

Teaching for the Master Brewer Course is performed at the location of KU / Life 2 km from SSB, and the lecturers arise partly from SSB, partly from KU / Life. The teaching is designed to form the main part of the new 2 - years KU / Life Master degree specialization in Brewing Science & Technology by following two courses, "Brewing 1" and "Brewing 2". KU / Life students can enter this study programme, if they hold a Bachelor degree in Food Science & Technology or similar.

In general the programme content is largely the same. However, the students will benefit from the academic settings at KU Life and SSB expect to a greater extent to attract Students outside the brewing industry. Entry qualifications and requirements regarding internship are maintained, so the school's basic principles to provide students with a high academic standard as well as a strong practical training continue.
